

Praise for the Pennwriters annual three-day writers conference—

“Pennwriters is among the very best regional writers conferences. It’s intimate enough to meet everyone and yet thoroughly professional in caliber. Highly recommended for both writers and industry pros. Don’t miss it.”

—Donald Maass, president of Donald Maass Literary Agency and 2013 Pennwriters Conference keynote

“The Pennwriters Conference is an amazing annual event that brings together excellent writing instructors and aspiring writers who are eager to learn. I would recommend Pennwriters events to anyone.”

—Chuck Sambuchino, author and independent editor with Writer’s Digest

“I appreciate the hard work and dedication that went into making a complicated event run smoothly. I am also grateful to the instructors who shared their wisdom and practical advice. I am enjoying the post-conference glow and can’t wait until next year.”

—Hank Phillippi Ryan, Mary Higgins Clark, Agatha, Anthony and Macavity award-winning author and 2012 Conference keynote “Pennwriters was originally founded to help writers network with agents and editors from reputable New York publishing houses. The annual conference is still one of the best in the nation.”

—Nancy Martin, author of 50+ novels, including the popular Blackbird Sisters Mysteries

What Pennwriters members and affiliates say about the organization—

“When I meet local people who want to know how to write and publish, the first advice I give them is to join Pennwriters.”

—Nancy Springer, longtime professional writer, author of the Enola Holmes Mystery Series

“The best professional relationships are also personal—and that’s what comes of being a Pennwriter.”

—Paul Raymond Martin, WRITER’S LITTLE INSTRUCTION BOOK: GETTING PUBLISHED

“Pennwriters is still a valuable source of information and camaraderie for me.”

—Susan Meier, past president and multi-published Silhouette Romance Novelist of 50+ books

“Pennwriters is about people. You’ll meet wonderful agents, editors and fellow writers willing to share insights and helpful hints.”

—Brian Butko, author of GREETINGS FROM THE LINCOLN HIGHWAY and editor of Western Pennsylvania History magazine

Pennwriters, a not-for-profit organization of more than 390 members from Pennsylvania and beyond, was established in 1988 as a networking organization for published and aspiring writers of all genres. Our mission is to help writers of all levels, from the novice to the award-winning and multi-published, improve and succeed in their craft.
